

Czechoslovak Government-In-Exile

Government established in France by the president of Czechoslovakia, Edvard Benes, after his country was overrun by Germany. In 1940 the government-in-exile moved to London, where it attempted to gain legal recognition for the Czechoslovak republic. It also tried to assist Czechoslovak Jews.