

Sprachregelung

(lit. "language regulation"), euphemistic language used by the Nazis to refer to their anti-Jewish policies in order to conceal the true nature of those acts. For example, the neutral term "final solution" actually referred to the annihilation of European Jewry.